STAG ARMS

2014

KALANI LAKER TEAM STAG ARMS

WWW.STAGARMS.COM

Dear Friends of STAG ARMS,

Connecticut firearms manufacturers faced numerous challenges in 2013, and many claim it was perhaps the most difficult year to date for the firearms industry. Not all obstacles were overcome; and, although the outcome was not quite as we had hoped for here in our home state, the results could have been far worse.

For 2014, concerted efforts are being made by our research and development team to provide rifle configurations which accommodate all of our consumer's needs. We are continuing our valued tradition of designing innovative rifles by introducing an entirely new line – the Model 3 Tactical Series – the 3T, 3T-M, 3TL, and the 3TL-M. The idea behind the 3T concept was to provide the shooter with the latest technology and innovation in carbine design. The DiamondHead 13.5" VRS-T handguard serves to help extend the gripping surface and sight radius. Not only is there more space on the handguards to comfortably hold the rifle, it also allows for a grip style that makes the rifle more controllable during fire. As with all of DiamondHead's handguards, these too are modular, allowing the shooter to attach long or short rail sections at the 3, 6, and 9 o'clock positions to suit any shooter's needs.

STAG ARMS has expanded greatly since our entrance to the market nearly 11 years ago. This year marked yet another busy year for us - we welcomed several new employees to the Stag Arms team, established partnerships with over 1,000 new FFL dealers across the United States, expanded both our manufacturing and shipping facilities, and focused our efforts even further on educating the community about firearms safety.

As we look ahead to our 11th year in business, we will remain steadfast in our attempts to preserve everyone's 2nd amendment rights during these uncertain political times. We are grateful for your continued support and dedication to our products. Your satisfaction is the greatest recognition we can have and we look forward to another successful and exciting year at STAG ARMS.

GOD BLESS AMERICA!

Mark T. Malkowski, President
